Mikita Mikado CEO

Meet Mikita Mikado, the CEO of PandaDoc. One of his first projects was launching Coding Staff web services and applications, which helped him earn money for his next project, Quote Roller in 2011, which, in turn, became part of PandaDoc in 2014.

He first moved to the US at the age of 19 on a student exchange program. Whilst there, he took a summer job flipping burgers at an airport. This experience sparked his interest in a career in the United States. Now Mikita lives in San Francisco, California, with his wife and 3 amazing children. Mikita is a cheerful person, who loves surfing, and practicing mindfulness.

Sergey Barysiuk CTO

It's time to introduce to you Sergey Barysiuk, the CTO of PandaDoc.

Many years ago, he worked as a Server at Crabby George's Seafood Buffet. He started his development career in Minsk at EPAM Systems. Then, while working for hire, he co-founded his own project-Coding Staff- and then, along with Mikita, launched his second company, Quote Roller, now known as PandaDoc.

Sergey is based in St. Petersburg, Florida, with his wife and two children. He is in love with fishing and coding.
